D. Selection of books and materials.

1. The library director and librarians shall oversee selecting library materials.

The library director will respond to the request and, if necessary, provide reviews or other documents supporting the value of the item in the collection. I. The Berlin Public Library provides public access computers at no charge to promote computer literacy for all age groups.

1. Internet Workstation Use Policy (Attachment 5a)

The Berlin Public Library Board establishes this Internet policy to ensure appropriate use of internet resources within the library.

The library believes that it lies within the scope of its mission to provide access to the internet to its users in order to meet their cultural, educational, informational, and recreational needs.

While the ability to access information on the internet provides a wealth of material that is personally, professionally, and culturally enriching to individuals, the internet also enables access to materials that may be offensive, disturbing, illegal, inaccurate and/or incomplete.

The internet is an open, worldwide communications forum. In this respect, the library cannot control or monitor material on the internet. Individuals must accept responsibility for determining what is, and is not, appropriate.

With the freedom and privilege to access computer networks comes the responsibility to use them in a safe and ethical manner that includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- a. Using resources for educational, informational and recreational purposes only
- b. Respecting the privacy of others by not misrepresenting oneself as another user; by not attempting to modify or gain access to files, passwords, or data belonging to others; by not seeking unauthorized access to any computer system, or damaging/altering software components of any network or database. The cost of damage to software or hardware is the responsibility of the patron using the same.

- c. Respecting the privacy of others using public access workstations at the library by not interfering with their use.
- d. Making only authorized copies of copyrighted or licensed software or material.
- e. Not sending, receiving, or displaying graphics that may reasonably be construed as obscene, or harmful to minors, as defined by law.
- f. Not making unauthorized changes to the setup or configuration of the computer's software or hardware.
- g. Installing or downloading software programs is not allowed except with permission of a librarian. Patrons must not save to the hard drive, but rather use their own storage device. The workstations have anti-virus software loaded but may not completely protect users or the library from contracting a virus.

The library reserves the right to monitor an individual's use of the library's workstation and server if inappropriate use is suspected. Failure to follow the Internet Workstation Policy and Guidelines will result in suspension or revocation of internet access privileges, and may result in denial of use of general library services. (See Section 9 hereof for further procedural information on the denial of library usage and services)

U.S. Copyright law (Title 17, U.S.C.) prohibits the unauthorized reproduction or distribution of copyrighted materials, except as permitted by principles of fair use. Users may not copy or distribute electronic materials (including electronic mail, text, images, programs, or data) without the explicit permission of the copyright holder. Responsibility for any consequences of copyright infringement lies with the user. The Berlin Public Library expressly disclaims any liability or responsibility resulting from such use.

2. Internet Workstation Procedures

- a. Adult patrons will receive a copy of the library's internet policies and regulations when applying for a library card.
- b. Parents or guardians of minor children will receive a copy of the library's internet policies and regulations when applying for a library card for a minor child.
- c. Guests will be allowed to use the library's internet workstation after reading the library's internet policies.

- d. Children under the age of 8 must be accompanied by an adult or caregiver over the age of 13 when using a computer workstation.
- e. If a patron does not have a library card or have their library card with them, the patron must show a current photo ID to use the library computers
- f. Patrons may not use library computers if they are in “collection” status except at the discretion of the Library Director
- g. Patrons must pay $1.00 towards fines if their account is over $5.00 to use the library’s computers
- h. No eating or open beverages are allowed near any of the library’s computers
- i. Use of the internet is available on a first come, first served basis. Time slots of 60 minutes per patron per day are standard. If no one else is waiting to use the internet, the session may be extended at library staff discretion.
- j. Patrons may make reservations for a specific internet workstation time for a specific purpose by contacting library personnel (i.e. taking an exam, preparing taxes, etc.)
- k. Computer printing donation of 10¢ per page may be paid at the circulation desk. Color printing is not available.

3. Children’s Use of the Internet Policy (Attachment 5b)

The Berlin Public Library upholds and affirms the right and responsibility of parents to determine and monitor their children’s use of all library materials and resources, including the internet. It is the responsibility of the parent, guardian, or caregiver to determine what is appropriate for children under their supervision.

A parent or guardian may request that his or her minor child be denied the use of the library’s internet computers. The library will provide its best efforts to enforce the restriction requested, however we cannot guarantee absolute compliance with the restriction by the child. The parent or guardian remains responsible for monitoring use of the internet and other electronic resources at the library.
